

Supplies for Science Activities in Behold and See 1

Essential supplies to have on hand:

- seed catalogs (see pg. 3 in Behold and See 1)
- magnifying glass
- glue or tape
- scissors
- colored pencils or crayons

Non-essential, but useful:

- field guides (see pg. 3 in Behold and See 1)

Pg. 7

- handful of dried butter beans, or large lima beans

Pg. 8

- seeds from foods that you eat
- paper towels

Pg. 15

- four or five dicots
- four or five monocots

Pgs. 17–19

- organic sweet potato or yam
- organic carrot
- seeds for radishes, beans, or peas (at least two types)
- two plastic jars, about 1 quart or liter each
- two large, clear plastic glasses
- heavy paper
- loose dirt or potting soil
- toothpicks or skewers
- plastic wrap
- spray bottle
- ruler

Pg. 26

- seed catalogs and grocery ads

Pg. 51

- encyclopedia, almanac, or the internet

Pg. 66–67

- mixed bird seed
- two hard-boiled eggs
- mealworms
- string
- two egg cartons with flat, tray-like lids

Pg. 73

- Field trip to the zoo!

Pg. 91

- potting soil and/or dirt
- large glass bowl
- 16 oz. clear plastic glass
- leaves or grass clippings
- dry oatmeal
- lettuce leaves
- dark paper
- two or three snails
- two or three earthworms
- plastic wrap
- toothpick
- spray bottle

Pgs. 95, 99

- photos from nursery catalogs, internet, or advertisements

Pg. 101

- ten or twelve large index cards

Pg. 167

- flashlight
- light-colored sticky notes
- black, blue, red, and green paper
- a partner

Pg. 170

- large pan or bowl
- large plastic bowl with snap-on, tight-sealing plastic lid
- tight-fitting stretchable plastic wrap
- wooden spoon
- ½ teaspoon of dry oatmeal or other small grain

Pg. 174

- blindfold
- a partner
- two sacks
- eight objects such as:
  - cotton ball, wooden block or spoon, washcloth, hairbrush, marshmallow, crayon, eraser, toy car or truck

Pg. 179

- blindfold
- several pea-size pieces of apple, celery, carrot, raw potato, and onion
- large slice of onion
- toothpicks
- a partner